

ExCeL London chooses Interactiv' Doc

ExCeL London, the international exhibition and convention centre, is the host venue for a variety of events from award winning exhibitions and conferences to international association meetings, product launches, banquets, award ceremonies, sporting events and great days out.

In June 2011, Interactiv' Technologies worked with ExCeL London and design agency Designate to produce ExCeL's new ICC digital brochures. The new interactive brochures use a unique technology which is faster than other e-brochures in the market and offers new features which enable users to customise their own pdfs, bookmark pages and write notes, as well as a detailed back off section that gives valuable statistics.

Engage the readers...

Throughout the digital brochure, there are interactive contents such as videos, flash animations, external links...
